DANIEL SKACH-MILLS is an award-winning Portland poet. Formerly a Trappist and Benedictine monk, this spiritual teacher now follows the way of the Tao. The Tao of Now is a collection of 81 poems that teach us how to go beyond the intellect and reconnect with wisdom. Skach-Mills has been published in a wide variety of publications and anthologies.

ANA CALLAN is a winner of the Academy of American Poets Award. A devastating accident involving a logging truck in 2000 inspired Ana Callan to reevaluate the “muddle of humanness. / Or the human mess / we call life.” After a near-impossible recovery, she awakened with a newfound sense of wonder for life and the natural world. Her new book of poems, Duet with Hummingbird, is the result. A widely published poet, Callan has been commissioned several times by the Oregonian to write personal essays for their arts and editorial sections.
